REGULATION PALADEA LA OLIVA 17, 18 and 19 June 2022

Information Collected

We collect two types of general information from users: personal data of those registered for events (personal data); and aggregated data (information about traffic patterns on this site; for example, how many users visit this site each day).

PERSONAL DATA

Personal data is collected when users provide us with information at the time of registering for an event. When registering for an event, you will need to create a username and password. In addition, if you send us personal correspondence, such as emails or letters, we will collect that information in a file specific to you.

Aggregate and Usage Information

Aggregate information, such as which page users access, and information voluntarily provided by users, such as survey information or site registration information, is collected through various methods. During the use of OUR site we automatically track certain information about you. This information includes the source URL, destination URL, and browser you are using, as well as your IP address. An IP address is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer when you are browsing the web. Web servers, computers that "offer" Web pages, automatically identify your computer by your IP address and when you request a page from us, our servers record your IP address. We do not link IP addresses to anything that is personally identifiable, so even if you log in, you will remain anonymous.

ART. 13.- USE OF COOKIES

This site also uses "cookies" to collect information. A cookie is a small file of data that most websites copy to your hard drive to keep logs when they are visited. Cookies allow us to measure activity in various sections of the site and improve your user experience, for example by remembering your passwords and viewing preferences, thereby allowing you to visit various sections of the site without having to re-register. We also use cookies to measure activity on the site and make improvements and updates based on the sections more or less visited. We do not use cookies to retrieve information from your computer that was not originally sent in a cookie. Note: Except for personal information voluntarily provided by you (during registration as a member or in a contest), WE do NOT use the information transferred by cookies for any marketing or advertising purpose, nor do we share that information with third parties.

You may occasionally obtain cookies from our advertisers, which is a standard in the internet industry. WE do not control such cookies, therefore, these cookies are not subject to this privacy policy. Most browsers are initially set to accept cookies. If you prefer, you can set your own to reject cookies or to notify you when they are sent. However, some sections of a site, such as the member and shopping, contest, or game areas, may not work properly if you do this.

Use of Information Collected by Us

We use the personal, aggregated and usage information we collect for various purposes. For example, to send information about the events to which you have registered or other similar events or also to carry out satisfaction surveys of participation in such events. We may use your email addresses, and on rare occasions, your mailing address or telephone number, to contact you regarding customer service or billing matters. Personal and aggregated information is also used to: improve the content of the website, perform system administration activities, as well as notify users of page updates or promotions that we consider interesting to you. We always provide you with an opportunity to decline this service when you are asked for this information online. If you later decide that you do not wish to receive this information, or wish to be removed from the distribution or request for information, you may do so by indicating this at the e-mail address included in all communications sent by e-mail. We may also use your information and activity on the site to resolve disputes, problems and respect our

Terms of Use.

Disclosure of Information Collected to Third Parties

We do not sell, trade or rent your personal data to third parties without your prior consent. Please note that the third party condition does not include our subsidiaries, affiliates, licensors, partners and partners who host the website, or those who assist us in the operation of the site. However, we may share your data, in aggregate information, as well as aggregate usage information, with third parties for advertising and promotional purposes. We also collaborate with all law enforcement inquiries and all third parties to respect your legal or intellectual property rights.

ART. 14.- LINKS TO OTHER SITES

It is important to note that this site contains links to other sites and that these sites may not follow the same privacy policies as we do. For example, by clicking on a sponsor, it can take you away from this site, to a completely different site. This includes links to sponsors, institutions or collaborators. These sites may send you their own cookies and may collect data and make uses that we would not make. We do not control these sites or uses, nor do we have any liability for them.

Safety

The security of all personally identifiable information associated with users of this site is very important to us. We implement various security measures to protect your personal information. Once we receive your data we will do everything possible to ensure the security of our systems. When transmitting credit card information to register for events, we use SSL (secure socket layer) encryption technology. The account information you enter on this site is password protected and cannot be accessed. You must not disclose your password or user identification number to anyone. Unfortunately, 100% secure data transmission over the Internet cannot be guaranteed. Therefore, while we strive to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of any information you transmit to us or of our online products or services and if you do so it is at your own risk.
